Sir;

This paper is responsive to your paper mailed to us on 5/16/2002. I already provided a response to your paper which, due to our error, had an incomplete list of claims. I would appreciate it if you kindly disregard my previous response and replace it with this one.

This response is developed around your objection to claim 4, 5 and 9 because they are dependent upon a rejected base claim, and your assessment that they would be allowable if written in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claim.

Following your recommendation, I would like to cancel the original claims 1 through 16, and introduce 1 through 7 presented in the following page.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely yours,

Parviz Soroushian
